ARCTIC CENTRE

The Arctic region and the Barents region are our home. We do not look at them from the outside; they are part of our everyday life.

The guiding principle of the Arctic Centre is to promote sustainable development in the Arctic regions. Strong social interaction is one of the cornerstones of our operations. Our expertise is used nationally and internationally.

The way the Arctic Centre works – combining research, science centre and science communications – is unique in its field.

The research concentrates on the interaction between people and the environment. The science communications improve general understanding of the Arctic and the Arktikum Science Centre takes its visitors through the Arctic regions.
